The Duty of Citizens.

The right of franchise conferred upon every qualified citizen is one that should be highly valued by every one. It is a right that should be exercised intelligently and honestly. The American citizen, whether by birth or adoption, should consider the right so sacred as to be held above price or undue influence. The National issues have been fully set forth by the campaign orators, and the mails have been burdened with pamphlets which have vividly shown the differences between the two parties. The administration of Benjamin Harrison has given the country an era of prosperity unparalleled in the history of the United States. A continuance of his administration means no change in the policy of the government, no casting about upon an ocean of uncertainty, with business interests at a standstill, waiting for a new administration to make known its policy.

In our State, the issues have been fought out upon questions that, come closely home to every resident of this thrifty State. The election of John Kean, Jr., means that we will have a Governor who will be untrammelled by corrupt politicians. His election will bring about a new regime in State affairs, that will restore our State to the proud position she formerly occupied.

Let there be no trading upon the part of Republican voters, but let us poll our full vote for the whole Republican ticket, from the President down to the Assemblyman.

Hon. Benjamin Howey should be sent to Congress to represent the Fourth Congressional District. All voters in the cause of decency and good morals should vote for him and thus rebuke the shameless gerrymander which was arranged to reward the man who voted for the coal combine.

Hon. A. C. Studder, our candidate for Assembly, made a good record in the last Legislature and should be returned by an increased majority.

The candidate for County Clerk, Captain Glori, is a man respected by those who have been his neighbors and have known him for years. He should be elected.

It is the duty of every Republican to vote next Tuesday. Having voted himself he should see that his neighbor votes and votes right. Give next Tuesday to your country, to which you owe so much.

Every man has some influence and should use it. This is a duty which is just as important and just as sacred as those of church or home.

Having done our duty we shall have rolled up a Republican majority in this town which will mark Bloomfield as the Banner Republican Town in the State.

Our Republican Workers.

While this has been a quiet campaign, yet there has been very much work done. The Chairman of the Republican Executive Committee, Wm. Biggart, has been untiring in his labors. G. Lee Stout as Chairman of the Finance Committee has been of great service to the party. C. W. Powers is the "hustler" and of ceaseless activity. Arthur J. Lockwood, who is really a new comer in politics, has shown by his efficient work, that he is no novice. Geo. W. Cook finds time from his business to attend the meetings of the Committee of Arrangements.

There is no Republican more zealous than Thomas Oakes, who is a wise counselor and liberal in his support of the party. At the meetings of the Republican Executive Committee the familiar faces of Theo. H. Ward, Fred M. Davis, C. L. Potter, John A. Lawrence and Spencer Hall are to be seen. The hearty laugh of N. H. Dold is infectious. Wm. Kramrich is the pusher from the Second Ward, while Wm. E. Eastman, in his uniform, reminds one of Napoleon Bonaparte. Thomas Cadmus sits with sharpened pencil and paper in hand, meditative in mood, and can tell to an all-spice how many votes will be polled in the Third Ward, the battle ground of the township. Votes enough will be polled in this ward to make it necessary to divide the district hereafter, and have two polling places. It is odd, so remote from the Centre, is ably represented by Brookman and Fisher who never dag in their interest. The Warlock of the Republican is Thos. McGowan, who sleeps with one eye open all the time.

The Young Men's Club which has been the headquarters of the Republican Committee during the last month, has presented an animated appearance with the literary bureau sending out documents and the fitting in and out of the old war horses and stagers, together with the young Republicans who have been anxious for the fray to be on. With such a cordon of active workers, in which should be included W. B. Corby, Alex. C. Marr, Wm. L. Johnson, and a host of others, there is every reason to expect grand results on next Tuesday. The Record says to each Republican worker, "well done" and many victory perch upon our banner.

Political Notes.

Fortunately it can no longer be said that the Irish vote is solid for any party. Signs are not wanting that at the antagonism of Irish-American to the candidates of British free trade is causing the Democratic managers much uneasiness. Every motive of patriotism both toward their native and adopted land should inspire Irish-Americans to cast their votes for the party of Americanism and protection; the party whose victory, according to the London Evening News and First of June 17, 1892, would retard for a considerable period the progress of those sound commercial and economic doctrines which underlie British commercial greatness and alone maintain British commercial ascendancy.

Veterans of the late war do not seem to be included in the Harrisonite parade while Cleveland is a substitute. This one of the pronounced friend of the soldier, while the other during his last administration gave abundant evidence that he was not. His vetoes of pension bills were accompanied by messages that were insults to the men who captured the flags he wanted to send back.

The Essex County Democracy has issued an address to the public advocating the election of Cleveland for President and Kean for Governor. They give strong reasons for supporting John Kean, Jr. for Governor, and say that the defeat of Judge Werts will be the defeat of the ring, and Judge Werts will retain his seat on the bench, where he will be of more value than in the hands of political tricksters. They urge Democrats to vote for Kean as the only way for them to rebuke and defeat the ring rule in this State.

The Democrats will have a meeting in Union Hall, State St., tomorrow night, which will be preceded by a parade. The meeting will be addressed by Hon. Amos J. Cummings, member of Congress, and Hon. E. Y. Bell.

The Bloomfield-Republican Battalion took part in the big parade in Newark last night, and presented a fine appearance. The marching of the Second Ward Club was such as to call for applause in many places along the line. For a company so recently organized they show a remarkable proficiency in drill. To-night the R-publican Battery, Colored Engineer Corps, and Second Ward Invincibles will parade in Orange.

The Democrats are paying more attention to the election of members of the assembly than they are to anything else in the State. The State Committee, while it has turned down almost every member of the last assembly who voted for the coal combine, is bending every energy to elect assemblymen who will vote to make Abbott senator.

The Democrats will retain control of the State Senate, but they are not so certain of the lower house, only claiming it by a very small majority, and they feel very much more uncertain as to the election of their candidate for governor.

The registry shows an increased number of voters, many of whom are new comers in the town. It is giving the workers in the parties an endless occupation to locate these new voters politically.

The canvass made by the Republicans has been a careful one in each of the wards and no doubt every effort will be made to poll the full vote. In no ward will greater efforts be made than in the Second. The Republican members of the election board have done their work well.

John Kean, Jr., has made a most energetic canvass and been in all parts of the State. Yesterday he visited the large Hat Shops and Factories of Orange and vicinity and was warmly received by the workmen everywhere.

The revised register lists show in the First Ward 612 registered; Second Ward, 614; Third Ward, 820; Total, 2,046. As the law says that a district polling more than 600 voters shall be divided it is likely that hereafter there will be two polling places in the Third Ward.

Even Veróna has been stirred up and on Wednesday night had a Republican meeting in Cook's Pavilion, which was well attended. Speeches were made by Major Carl Lantz, Hon. A. C. Studder and others.

The Republican Meeting and Parade. There was to have been a large Republican meeting and parade in Bloomfield last night. Arrangements had been made to have John Kean, Jr., the candidate for Governor, present. At the time the programme was made up the County parade was to have taken place Saturday night. It was changed to last night.

That shut Bloomfield out from having a parade of Republican clubs. Thursday had been taken as the only night which Mr. Kean had open for the townships and he was to appear at Milburn, Orange, Bloomfield, Belleville and Roseville on the same evening. Sunday it was announced from the Presbyterian pulpits that the Rev. Jno. G. Paton, a returned missionary from the South Sea Islands, would speak in the First Presbyterian Church Thursday night. Not all Republicans are Presbyterians. Yet it was considered wise to forego the pleasure of having Mr. Kean here, and the meeting with the parade was given up. Nowhere is there so much deference paid to the church, and so far as possible Thursday has a way been avoided in holding secular meetings.

South Sea Island Mission Work.

DR. J. H. G. PATON'S ADDRESS IN THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The First Presbyterian Church was well filled last night by the united congregations of Westminster, First Presbyterian and Park M. E. Church to listen to an address by Rev. John G. Paton, a missionary to the South Sea Islands. Mr. Paton has been a missionary among the South Sea Islands for more than thirty years, having been sent out from Great Britain, but is now attached to Australia. He gave in a vivid manner a graphic account of missionary labors among the natives of the South Sea Islands, who were originally all cannibals of the very worst type.

Some twenty islands are now under the control of these missionaries. On one island with a population of over two thousand, there is not a native but who asks the divine blessing at the table, and family worship is had in every household. These natives' only idea of money was its color, white and yellow. White traders had, owing to the ignorance of the natives, passed tin and copper on them for silver and gold. This coming to the knowledge of Mr. Paton, he gathered the different coins of the British Empire, spread them out on a table in the room, and told the children what they were, and so all the natives came to view and handle them. These coins laid about for months, and when he finally gathered them up not a single coin was missing. He asked the children why they had not helped themselves when they had had an opportunity, and their reply was that Jesus had told them "Thou shalt not steal." The savages had no such compunctions, as one of the missionaries, while sitting in his room saw the coverlet of his bed moving and upon investigation found that a savage had made a hole through the wall through which he had run a line with a fish hook attached and would have had the coverlet if the missionary had not been on the alert.

On these islands are 14,000 people who give evidence of a changed life brought about by the influence of the gospel, a great many of whom have family worship, but not all are church members, as they are very particular as to those admitted into full membership in the Presbyterian Church.

Eighteen missionaries look after the spiritual welfare of these people. These missionaries have shown a self-sacrificing spirit and only after years of hard study have they been able to master the dialect, and that of only a portion of the islands, which can be divided into three groups, two of 4000 inhabitants each and the other 6000, each group having a different dialect, two of which have been mastered and the new testament will be printed in them.

Mr. Paton showed specimens of some of the idols these devoted people worshipped and his narrative was filled with thrilling details of life among these converted savages who now are devoted Christians. At the close of the meeting many had an opportunity of shaking hands with the reverend gentleman. A collection was taken up for the mission.

Columbian Sociable.

BROMLEY CHAPTER, EPWORTH LEAGUE, AT PARK M. E. CHAPEL.

Monday night the parlors of the Park M. E. Church were crowded with those who had come to attend the Columbian Sociable given by the Bromley Chapter, The Committee of arrangements had devised a programme original in character, comprising tableaux, music, and historical addresses which were amusing and instructive. Columbus was presented by Mr. J. W. Snodden, who was supposed to have awakened from a sleep which was longer than the nap enjoyed by R. Van Winkle, as Columbus was aroused from a slumber of 400 years to view what progress had been made in the country discovered by him. Mr. D. P. Lyall took the part of Uncle Sam and was very amusing in the details which he spread before Columbus. Then there was Aunt Sam (Miss Mabel Van Winkle) who was truly up to Uncle Sam in vivacity, and they both kept the audience in a state of amusement. Miss Columbia was represented by Miss Lillian Galloway, who made a very interesting address, showing the growth of the country Columbus discovered.

The Indians were represented by Isaac Van Winkle, Ernest Mace, Alfred Martin, Harry Decker and B. Zubriske. Then make up was complete and the singing of Indian songs so well done as to call for a repetition.

Miss Daniels, clad in Indian costume looked so captivating that there were many who would gladly have taken the part of John Smith, so as to have been rescued by her.

The thirteen original States were represented by thirteen young ladies, clad in white, bearing the star and stripes. They entertained the occasion by singing Patriotic songs. Miss Lillian A. Martin singing the Star Spangled Banner with wonderful effect, the other twelve joining in the chorus.

Miss Florence Francis personated Liberty. Mrs. C. W. Martin and Miss Florence Rusby rendered selections on the piano which were pleasing and were encored.

The tableaux were as follows: "Landing of Columbus," "I did Exchange," "Rescue of John Smith," Marriage of Pocahontas, "Liberty."

The programme closed with the singing of America led by the young ladies representing the States and the audience joined in. After which refreshments were served.

The Bromley Chapter has gained very many members during the year and has been an invaluable auxiliary to the Park M. E. Church, its members being active in the church work and in the social meetings.

New Jersey in the First Rank.

The census returns show that New Jersey during the decade of 1880 to 1890 has had the largest percentage of increase of population, the percentage being 27.4. None the less gratifying is the fact that manufacturing has kept pace with the increase of population, and prosperity has been general throughout the State. Workingmen have found employment in our State at good wages and as they spend their money here they earn it a trades people have shared in the good times.
